

Block Your Dates for the Biggest Business Carnival on Minerals, Metals, Metallurgy & Allied Industry.

ABOUT INDUSTRY

India is one of the fastest growing economy in the world at 7.4 per cent and the world's third-largest steel producer. There is a huge scope for steel sector with an increased demand of finished steel consumption growing at a CAGR of 5.6 percent to reach 90.68 MT. After almost a decade of limping growth, the significant recovery of the global economy as well as that of the Global Steel Industry in 2018 also points to a favourable outlook for the Indian steel industry, India's crude steel and finished steel production increased to 102.34 MT and 104.98 MT in 2017-18, respectively. While global production of crude steel at 1,691 million tonne (MT) noted a growth of 5.3 per cent in 2018 over the previous year, the estimated steel consumption rose to 1,622 MT. The continued growth in GDP in India, in fact, indicates that major steel consuming segments such as construction, real estate/housing, capital goods/machinery, consumer goods, automobiles and energy sector shall benefit.
